CHYNARA BAIGAZIEVA · INTERNATIONALLY CERTIFIED HYPNOTIST AND REIKI MASTER

Before Our Session

A short guide to help you arrive ready — in body, space, and mind.

> Please read carefully and prepare for our work together. Your preparation directly affects the depth of the process and the quality of your results.

Space

- A quiet, private room where no one will disturb you for 1.5–2 hours
- All notifications, calls, and messengers turned off
- Let people at home know not to come in
- Remove pets from the room

During the session there must be no risk of anyone entering or anything distracting you.

Body Position

- A comfortable chair or bed
- Your head must be supported (not "hanging")
- Your body in a position where you can fully relax
- Camera positioned so I can see: your face, your eyes, your chest (to observe breathing)

Lighting

- Good, even lighting
- Your face clearly visible
- Avoid dim light or strong backlighting
- Camera at eye level

This is important for tracking micro-expressions and the depth of your state.

Connection & Tech

- Fully charged phone or laptop
- Stable internet connection
- Headphones recommended
- Test your audio and camera in advance

A clean connection matters — it directly affects the depth of the session.

Preparing Your Body

8–10 hours before the session, avoid:

- Coffee
- Strong tea
- Energy drinks
- Alcohol
- Any substances that alter your state of mind

If you take any of the following — please let me know in advance: antidepressants, antipsychotics, tranquilizers, or any psychoactive medication. Do not take anything additional right before the session.

Water

- Keep water nearby
- Drink it after the session

The process can go deep — your body will need to regulate afterward.

Your Inner State

This is the most important part.

- You are doing this for yourself
- You are ready to be honest
- You are ready to feel
- You are ready to go deep

The key is trust in the process. Hypnosis works with the unconscious mind. The less you try to control, analyze, or "help yourself with your head" — the deeper the result. When control kicks in, the process slows down. When you allow — the process opens up.

During the Session

- Don't try to "answer correctly"
- Don't look for logic
- Don't analyze what's happening
- Don't judge yourself

Your only task is to experience — not to think.

After the Session

- Allow 1–2 hours without intense social activity
- Avoid making important decisions right away
- Give your mind time to integrate the process
- Observe how you feel

> Sometimes changes begin the same day — sometimes they unfold over the next few days.

Important

Hypnosis is deep inner work with your feelings, memories, and subconscious structures. Your results depend directly on:

- Your openness
- Your willingness to trust
- Your ability to let go of control

> If you are ready to go deep — we will go deep.
